Can we please make a Metro stop a Rosehill racecourse? The eastbound commuters will need to travel away from the city and change transport modes in order to access the Metro, even though it goes directly under the site. Given the proposed number of residents and workers and the transport hub around the PLR junction, surely there is a strong case for a station.

Esp when we are inviting more people here. We are planning all good stuff and everything is awesome but metro station could have catapulted the growth a lot.

I agree to the above statement
