I am concerned about the availability of parking in the surrounding streets. Although the immediate streets have been considered, residential parking in Donnison Street West was not mentioned. With the additional development currently being built in Young street (a considerable block of 56 units with only 29 car park spots to be available), this would place considerable strain on the existing parking availability in the immediate vicinity, when the additional units 58 residential and 32 hotel units). With the construction currently under way for Young street there is already a noticeable unavailability of parking in Donnison street (and this is only from the tradespeople attending the site).
